**FOOD VENDORS** Be very specific with pricing, items, and space needed during the Cache County Fair and Rodeo. Food vendor applications will not be accepted without proper documentation, as requested in the application.

With only limited space available, we insist on quality and professionalism because we consider you a partner in our success. All vendors compete annually for selection, and we work to avoid duplication among vendors. If you are selected, the food committee has the right to disallow individual food items from your menu. Previous participation is not a guarantee of acceptance. Bear River Health Department is very proactive when it comes to public health, and any issues they raise must be resolved immediately. Food vendor applicants must submit a photo of the booth setup along with dimensions of your required space. The dimensions must include extensions such as trailer tongues or hitches, and amount of space required for storage of items such as supplies, propane tanks, etc. You must have a current food handler's permit and event permit from Bear River Health Department.

Vendor Application Requirements:

All vendors are responsible for conducting their own sales. It is your responsibility to collect and report sales tax. Sales tax information will be available upon arrival at the fair.

Upon acceptance, FOOD vendors must supply a certificate of insurance (for a minimum of $1,000,000), naming Cache County Fair and Rodeo as an additional insured for the dates.

LATE APPLICATION FEE AFTER April 15, 2023 - - - - + $50

Booth spaces will be assigned after acceptance. Previous participation is not a guarantee of a particular booth location.
